Ryan's Reflections

Dear friends in Christ,

When we first arrived at the care facility, there were only a handful of residents in the room. All of them were well-advanced in years, and most of them were seated in wheelchairs or had walkers stationed nearby. Dr. John Coble, Director of Music at First Presbyterian Church, arranged us in position near an upright piano, and then he introduced us to the small group of residents and caregivers. He explained that we were a group from First Presbyterian Church of Athens called "The Mellows," and with a wink and a smile, he said, "We only practice once a year, and we're so good they won't let us sing in our own church, so we came here."

We sang hymns like "In the Garden," and "Blessed Assurance." We sang old popular songs like "In the Good Old Summertime." As we sang, more and more residents and staff members began to fill the room, and with Dr. Coble's encouragement as our "front man," many of them began to sing along with us.

The closing set was a series of patriotic songs, and when we began sing to "God Bless America," most of the residents who were able rose to their feet with smiles on their lips and even a few tears in their eyes. We were only in the facility for about an hour, but over the course of that hour, the Spirit began to fill that little room.

In the gospel of Matthew, Jesus says that when we visit the sick and the lonely, or even when we offer so much as a cold drink of water to one who is thirsty, we're ministering to him.

When you give to First Presbyterian Church, you're not just supporting an operating budget. Without your faithful gifts to First Presbyterian Church, ministries like The Mellows simply would not happen. Your gifts make it possible for First Presbyterian Church to employ people like Dr. John Coble, a world-class musician with a servant's heart. Your gifts put gas in the church van and keep it in top running condition so The Mellows can go forth sharing the love of Christ with Athens and the world.

Thank you for your faithful generosity, and even more, thank God for you.

Peace be with you and yours,

Ryan, Senior Pastor

Fellowship@First: Church Picnic, Sunday October 20 Sandy Creek Park, 3:00 - 6:00 p.m.

Young and old are invited to join us for a festive afternoon of pumpkin carving and pumpkin-themed games. Fried chicken and drinks will be provided. Bring a side or dessert to share. There is no cost for the picnic, but reservations are requested. Please sign up online, in the Atrium or by contacting the church office.

If you would like to pre-order a pumpkin ($5 each), we will take orders through Sunday, October 13. We will bring your pumpkin to the picnic, but be sure to bring your creative ideas and carving equipment with you. Come prepared to have fun, get messy, and celebrate Fall with your FPC church family.

A Heavenly Visit with the Kipps

On September 12, about thirty First Presbyterians wearing red shirts were welcomed by John and Sara Kipp into their home for a musical pastoral visit. The group, led by our Director of Music John Coble, was comprised of members of The Mellows plus others from our Sunday morning choir and one off-key interloper (me). Beginning with old-time gospel hymns like “The Church in the Wildwood,” then Tin Pan Alley tunes like “Hello! Ma Baby,” followed by patriotic songs like “My Country ‘Tis of Thee,” and ending with “Auld Lang Syne,” we encircled John and Sarah with a wreath of melody and friendship.

What might have been a concert was actually a sing-along. John and Sara are regulars with The Mellows. For years, they have donned their red polo shirts every Thursday and stood alongside others serenading folks at senior centers in and around Athens. So, they knew the songs. John, who has become a man of few words since the onset of his brain cancer, sang every syllable of every song.

That evening my husband Jack remarked to me, “That was certainly a cloud of witnesses today.” (see Hebrews 12:1.) How true! We were there on behalf of the whole church testifying together in song to our faith, hope, and love. We were the communion of saints, saints marching in (as we sang so heartily) to heaven.

The heavenly streets of gold and gates of pearl described in Revelation don’t do much for me. But there’s lots of singing in the afterlife, according to that vision. And I’m willing to bet that at least some of the singers will be robed in red shirts.

Carol Strickland, Associate Pastor

Music Notes

I’m not a big social media user compared to some, but I post things on Facebook occasionally. A few of my posts get shared by others, maybe 1 or 2 times, if at all. Imagine my surprise when an article I posted recently was shared 494 times, and it was one of my geeky church music/organist articles called “The Four Functions of a Church Choir.” I’m pleasantly surprised to find that many people enthusiastic about the topic of church choirs!

So, what are the functions of a church choir? The first and most important job is to lead and enliven congregational singing. Many people think of choirs as a groups who perform beautiful anthems and other bigger pieces of music. Choirs do that too, but it’s not the most important thing. First and foremost, we are to lead the people singing in worship, and we do rehearse hymns and congregational music too. (The same is true for organists too, by the way.)

Second, a church choir sings music the congregation cannot. There is a lot of beautiful sacred choral music that is more intricate and requires rehearsal. Choirs are made up of people who give of their time and talents to rehearse and prepare music that is an offering to God on behalf of the congregation.

Third, a choir serves as a small group within the church for faith formation. Our rehearsals are a time of fellowship as well as the work of rehearsing music. We also talk about the words that we are singing, and about why we are singing them in a particular service. It is important to understand what we are singing and why, so that we can communicate the message in music. Choirs are usually a bit like families. We share each other’s joys and sorrows, we pray, laugh, cry, talk to, and support each other.

Fourth, church choirs sing beautiful and challenging music to praise God, and also to edify the congregation. We sing to God first and foremost, but in the process, we hope to touch and move people in worship closer to God.

On Choir Dedication Sunday, October 20, we will celebrate the six wonderful choirs in our church, recognize their hard work, and have a ceremony where those choir members will pledge themselves to faithful service in the 2019-2020 season. And, of course, we will sing. Come celebrate our choirs, enjoy their musical leadership, and thank them for their hard work.

Soli Deo Gloria (To God Alone Be the Glory),

John Coble, Director of Music and Organist

Family Promise (Formerly IHNA)

The next Family Promise (formerly IHNA) host week is October 27 - November 3. If interested in volunteering for that week, please sign up on the calendar in the atrium or contact Susan Boatwright at boatwrightsusan@gmail.com or Frank Sherrill at franksherrill@gmail.com for more information. All volunteers are required to attend a one-hour orientation. The next will be held on October 3 at 12:30 p.m. at the Family Promise Day Center (355 Pulaski St). Please let Susan or Frank know if you have any questions.

Jesus, the Prince of Peace, invites the whole Church to become active peacemakers.

World Communion Sunday, Peace & Global Witness Offering
October 6

The Peace & Global Witness Offering is an invitation to the church to promote the Peace of Christ by addressing systems of conflict and injustice across the world. Through our gifts, we offer a healing hand to women experiencing abuse, here in this country and in places like Guatemala, even as we seek to remedy the structures that create their vulnerability. Our giving offers a word of peace to those incarcerated here and those crushed by civil war in places like the Democratic Republic of the Congo. Our offering draws together those who were once at war, creating opportunities for veterans from this land to return to Iraq and build relationships that offer a start to healing and understanding. Our Mission & Outreach Commission has elected to designate 25% to hurricane relief through Presbyterian Disaster Assistance (PDA). Please be generous that we may offer, as the words in 2 Thessalonians say, “peace, at all times, in all ways.”

Children's Ministry Update

I "WONDER" what Godly Play is doing for our children?

We begin Godly Play every Sunday morning with the children building a circle and getting ready to hear and experience a story from the Bible. After the story, the storyteller wonders out loud with the children - "I wonder what part of the story you liked best, I wonder what is the most important part of the story, I wonder where you see yourself in the story, I wonder if there are any parts of the story which we could leave out and still have everything we need?" This "wondering time" is an important part of the Godly Play routine. It provides an opportunity for children to safely explore the story further and to think out loud in a supportive circle of friends about what the story might personally mean to them.

As we begin our third full year of Godly Play, you may be wondering what Godly Play is doing or has done for our children. I would like to share with you a couple of very sweet moments that have happened in Children's Ministry because of Godly Play...

Holy Baptism

It was a special Sunday morning in worship, a baby was being baptized. The children were invited to sit up front so that they could see and meet the newest member of the church. After the baptism, we gathered together in the Children's Chapel and got ready for the Godly Play Holy Baptism story. The children listened intently and watched in wonder as the story began.

"We baptize people in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit ... The Holy Spirit goes where it will. It flies on the invisible wind like the dove. The Holy Spirit comes to us when we need comfort and power. It is invisible, like the scent in this oil. It is invisible, but it is there." (Godly Play Story, Holy Baptism)

To better understand this part of the story - the Holy Spirit being with us even though we cannot see it - the children pass a little jar of oil around the circle taking turns smelling the invisible scent. On this particular Sunday morning as the oil was being passed around, it stopped at one very curious five-year-old. He took a deep breath in of the oil and looked up in amazement with his big brown eyes and exclaimed "it's in there, it's in there!" In that moment, it was obvious that this child had made a meaningful connection to the Holy Spirit.

The Good Shepherd and World Communion

On another Sunday morning, the children watched and listened as the storyteller brought all the people of the world to the table ...

"This is the table of the Good Shepherd. Here is the bread and the juice of the Good Shepherd. Sometimes it seems like we need to have a little statue or something on the table to remind us that this is the table of the Good Shepherd, but the Good Shepherd is in the bread and the juice, so we don't really need anything to remind us. Sometimes someone comes to read the very words of the Good Shepherd, and to give us the bread and the juice. Sometimes the people of the world come to this table, and even the children come." (Godly Play Story, The Good Shepherd and World Communion)

After Godly Play, a little girl walked with her mother to the sanctuary. As she got ready for worship, she looked around and noticed the trays of bread and juice on the table just like she had seen in the Godly Play story earlier that morning. She leaned over to her mother with a great big smile and said, "This is my favorite part! My favorite part of worship is the BREAD!" Now we all know that children and even us adults don't mind a little snack during worship especially when we are getting hungry for lunch. However, in that moment this child knew she was invited to the same table, the Lord's Table that her parents were also invited to. This feast we call Communion and the gift of life that God gave us was for her, a child just as much as it was for the adults.

Godly Play doesn't just tell stories of the Bible or explain the Holy Sacraments through words. Godly Play invites children to truly experience, to see and feel, to smell and taste, and to personally connect to the sacred stories of the Bible. Thank you, First Presbyterian, for giving the gift of Godly Play to our children.

Director of Children's Ministries

Children's Ministry in October

Godly Play for Parents and Adults, Sunday, October 6, 9:45 a.m.

* If you are new to Godly Play or would just like to be reminded of what Godly Play looks like and feels like, please plan to join Natalie Bishop for the story of The Good Shepherd and World Communion and a feast in the "big room" of the Children's Ministry Suite. The children will go to their Godly Play Rooms and continue to follow their normal Godly Play routine during this same time. The story will begin at 9:50 a.m. for everyone.

World Communion Sunday, October 6, 11:00 a.m. Worship Service

* Children in 2nd Grade are invited to serve as Communion Helpers during the 11:00 a.m. Worship Service. 2nd Graders and their parents will meet Mrs. Natalie at 10:35 a.m. in the CM Suite to review the children's Communion Helper responsibilities before heading to the sanctuary.

Trick or Treat for UNICEF, Sunday, October 27

* Children are invited to wear "church friendly" costumes as we "Trick or Treat for UNICEF" before and after the 11 a.m. Worship Service in the Atrium.

Youth Ministry

Our mission is to draw youth into a journey of faith, prepare them for lifelong discipleship, and inspire them to carry the love of Christ to Athens and the world.

What's the deal with "The PIT"?

Until this summer, I thought that "The PIT" stood for Presbyterians In Training. On one hand it made sense to me – middle and high school students meet down there to talk about God and how they can live out their faith. On the other hand, it felt wrong – like it was discounting what youth have to offer to the church today by saying they are in training. I tried to think of clever new names for the youth space on the basement level, but nothing fit. Then I learned the real story behind "The PIT." Ten years ago when our church undertook a massive renovation and expansion project to build Fellowship Hall and Weekday School classrooms we also transformed what was literally a pit into an incredible youth space. The time, resources, and attention to detail that went into creating a space connected to our mission is truly remarkable. Here are just a few of the highlights of our now lovingly called "PIT". Stop by and see for yourself next time you're in the neighborhood!

Main Room

talking about their weeks. There is even a small kitchen for us to keep juice that we can enjoy before Sunday School with donuts!

There are thirteen 8th and 9th graders in this year's confirmation class, representing nine different schools! Questions about God will be posted on the bulletin board for us to explore during the year, recognizing that some things don't have an easy answer and rely on faith. While a chalk board wall will be filled those things we know for sure – God loves me. We have two other similar rooms each dedicated to middle school and high school youth group.

Family Promise

downstairs in the bathrooms? FPC goes above and beyond to make our host week a special time, and the space is the cherry on top.

The newest addition to the PIT is a donation center that was organized by our youth this August. We have labeled bins to collect a number of things including supplies for Athens Nurses Clinic (socks, toothbrushes, washcloths are current needs), Care Bags for homeless visitors and plastic grocery bags for Girl Scouts*. Thank you for your donations!

Isabelle's Girl Scout Troop

On Sunday morning and Sunday nights, youth come together for friendly competitions of pool, foosball, and air hockey. A few of our talented musicians play piano (thank you Kitty Donnan) while others hang out on the couches

Confirmation Room

We love our youth space, but happily move out 3 or 4 times every year so that volunteers can transform the space into a home for Family Promise guests. Classrooms become bedrooms. A corner of the game room is filled with children's toys and books while round tables with tablecloths and flower arrangements create a family dining room. And did you know that we have showers

Donation Center

* "Got Plastic to Recycle? If so, bring it to the PIT. Isabelle Seward and her Girl Scout Troop #12196 are participating in a challenge to collect 500 lbs. of plastic (grocery bags, product wrap, etc.) between October-March, so they can earn a buddy bench made out of recycled plastic lumber from Trex.

The Girl Scouts are building a Sensory Garden for the Special Needs Courtyard at Malcom Bridge Middle School. They have already built a wheelchair accessible raised bed garden and swing frame, and hope to include musical elements as well as a new bench in their butterfly garden." Isabelle Seward

Flower Dedications

The following dates are available to dedicate flowers for Sunday worship: October 20, 27, and November 3. The cost for two arrangements is $100. Please contact Lucy Bell Johnson, lbell@firstpresathens.org or (706) 543-4338 to schedule a date.

PTPs to Tour Boutier Winery, October 15

What better way to celebrate autumn than by joining the Prime Time Presbyterians on their first fall event - visiting the beautiful, rustic Boutier Winery & Inn in Danielsville, Georgia. Victor, the owner, will host a guided tour of the winery and their recently purchased charming Bed and Breakfast Inn. A wine tasting of six of their premium wines will follow, and then we will enjoy lunch on site. The 5 star winery is a lovely, quaint site for outdoor weddings and other celebrations. The expansive rural property also boasts horseback riding as an activity. Anyone interested?! So, mark your calendar for Tuesday, October 15. We will meet at Kohl's parking lot at 10:00 a.m. if you would like to ride the church van, or caravan in your own car. Cost for the tour, wine-tasting and lunch is $17.50 per person. Lunch will consist of a variety of sandwiches, sides and a drink. Please email or call Phyllis Crowell to make your reservation by October 11: crowellpm@aol.com, 706-543-9561.
